Thank you! the word "coordinate" is not spelt with an "e" at the end. It should be spelt C-O-R-D-O-N-A-T e. I also have a question about how to do something with English words. How is disminución spelled? I think it is spelled D-I-S M -I N -S -U C I Ó N but I'm not sure. Please tell me how to spell disminución in English so that I can be sure that my spelling is correct and use it correctly in my writing and speaking of the language. Thank you! In this question "disminución" is spelt with an "e" at the end. It should be spelt DI-S-M-I N -U C i Ó N. Thank you for your help! I am Spanish and I am learning English very well. When I write something in English, if I want to know if it is correct or not, I write a paragraph of English. This gives me a better understanding about how a word is spelt and or pronounced in English so that my writing is correct and so that you can read my writing in English correctly. That is a good way to do it in my opinion. I hope this helps you with your Spanish and or English language studies. This is a good strategy for practicing your English. The only concern I have is that you're writing with bad grammar in English because, in this paragraph, for example, all the capitalization and punctuation is incorrect. Which I know isn't what you're looking for when writing an article to help with English but if that's the case then keep working on improving your spelling/grammar/punctuation and reading of the language so that more people will be able to read and understand what you write. Thank you for your response and for your concern about my English writing. My English is not perfect and I am trying to use my English better and better with each day, month, year and with each experience, trial and challenge in the English language! Thank you for asking how I use my English writing to help with English. I found a website that helped me learn about this issue. It was called www .englib123 .com I would like to add that it is important when learning a new language such as Spanish or English to write everything in the language that you're studying before writing anything in the other language.
